

Tom Allison

Senior Partner

Tom specializes in placing leading individual partners and teams in New York and London for the world's most elite law firms. He works closely with senior leadership to help firms execute their strategic growth initiatives in both markets, advising on high-profile partner moves across a range of practice areas, including private equity, M&A, finance, restructuring, funds, and disputes.

Drawing on his extensive network and experience, as well as CenterPeak's market-leading platform, Tom helps partners and firms make impactful, long-term hiring decisions.

Tom has spent 11 years in legal search. Before joining CenterPeak, he was a shareholder at a leading international legal search firm, where he launched and led the New York Partner Desk.

Tom holds a BA from the University of Leeds and a Graduate Diploma in Law from BPP Law School. Outside of work, he enjoys spending time with family and friends, traveling, and playing golf, tennis, and padel.
